

Ryota Takahashi, P.E. is Deputy Manager of Mitsubishi Hitachi Power Systems, MHPS, a company engaged in the design, manufacture and installation of a wide range of products, from the advanced J-series Gas Turbine to 1,700MW-class Nuclear Steam Turbine. He has been working in the area of the feasible study and R&D of nuclear steam turbine plant for 10 years. His recent work focuses on the thermal performance analysis of the plant. He holds a Master's degree in Mechanical Engineering from Osaka University and he is a registered Professional Engineer in Colorado.