

Arun K Saha is currently a Professor in the Department of Mechanical Engineering at Indian Institute of Technology Kanpur, India. He has received his PhD degree in Mechanical Engineering from Indian Institute of Technology Kanpur, India. Before joining IIT Kanpur, he was a post-doctoral research fellow in the Mechanical Engineering Department of Stony Brook University (SUNY) and Louisiana State University, USA.

His areas of research include experimental and computational fluid dynamics and heat transfer, multi-phase flow and heat transfer.