A MESSAGE FROM MAYOR NENSHI

On behalf of my City Council colleagues and the citizens of Calgary, it is my pleasure to welcome delegates, presenters, and all participants to the International Pipeline Conference (“IPC”) 2020.

Although we are experiencing unprecedented global health and operating challenges, the spirit of collaboration and knowledge sharing which takes place at IPC is needed now, more than ever. Calgary is honoured to serve as your virtual hosts and welcomes the opportunity to host IPC in person, when it is safe to do so.

IPC routinely brings together industry, academia, and elected officials to leverage the latest research and learnings. Bringing together an international audience, this conference serves an essential role in continually improving the high standards for safety, responsible transportation, and reducing environmental impact of operations.

The collective efforts from delegates, sponsors, industry, and academia, to work together is an inspiration and I appreciate your commitment to sharing information and best practices.

I commend all those involved in ensuring that the International Pipeline Conference is a tremendous success.

Congratulations!

Sincerely,

Naheed K. Nenshi
