STUDENT PAPER COMPETITION

Make your Mark at POWER 2020

Abstract deadline: December 16

POWER 2020 offers an opportunity for students to present a technical paper on issues affecting the electric power generation industry today.

Submit an abstract if you'd like to:

- Present your paper and gain valuable insight and feedback to improve your research
- Be published in ASME proceedings
- Begin a lifelong relationship with ASME and the Power Division

Winners receive a cash award (up to $3,000 USD) and all students who enter the paper competition receive complimentary registration, lodging and a ticket to the awards banquet.

For eligibility requirements and a full list of benefits, please visit the "student" tab at:
