

ASME Email Preference Updates

If you are not receiving ASME email communications (SBC content regarding the 2025 conference for example) you can check your preference center to ensure you are opted to receive them.

From ASME.org, you can go to your account (found in “ASME Membership” -> “My Membership”) and from there click to update Communication Preferences and see if the below are clicked on.

Email preferences Select / Deselect All

ASME Products & Services
American Society for Mechanical Engineers (ASME) marketing communications, including products, services, events, and company updates and alerts from ASME and our affiliated brands.

ASME and Mechanical Engineering Sponsors
Receive relevant offers from ASME or Mechanical Engineering brand sponsors. Includes sponsored content, resources, webinars, white papers, news, and information about products and services from sponsors of Mechanical Engineering magazine, ASME newsletters, and ASME.org. *

ASME Volunteer Communications
Communications and information from volunteer leaders and groups, such as ASME Member Sections, Divisions, and Sectors about relevant events, meetings, and volunteer opportunities.

ASME Advertising & Sponsorship Opportunities
Updates from ASME sales professionals about sponsorship and advertising opportunities, including ASME publications, events, and digital. Intended for companies interested in marketing their products and services.

ASME-affiliated Products & Services
Marketing communications from ASME-affiliated brands and entities (does not include 3rd-party ASME and Mechanical Engineering Sponsors below).